

Dear Parents, Carers and Guardians

This is one of my favourite times of the year – the lighter mornings and early spring flowers welcome us to school in the morning and there's perhaps just a gentle sense that the warmer, if not drier, weather might be around the corner. At lunchtime today Rev Helen led a quiet lent communion, another chance for us all to reflect and take a moment as we start to head towards Easter and the joy of new life which we can see starting to bud across our beautiful county.

At Truro School we continue to prioritise the wellbeing of our pupils and staff, and I had the pleasure of attending WellFest at Exeter School earlier this week with Mel Corden Lloyd, our Health and Wellbeing Lead. The day was filled with insightful sessions focussing on how we can support and enhance the wellbeing of our school community, through sport, music, art and other creative opportunities, but also how we can help young people to thrive, build resilience and work sustainably, and be courageous advocates for our friends. We'll share more about what we learnt over the coming weeks, but looking back over this first week of the half term, you can see the incredible variety of activities that the pupils have been engaged in, which all support wellbeing.

The dedication of our amazing sports teams is clear to see not just in their results. They role model to us all, the importance of physical health for our wellbeing as well as the fostering of teamwork, resilience and a sense of achievement. We saw our talented U13 football team play in the ISFA semi-final against Eaton House The Manor Prep School this afternoon and they won 8-2. They will now compete in the national finals on March 12. There have also been amazing recent achievements in netball, football, cricket, swimming and hockey – well done to you all. We also welcomed back our surfers who had a wonderful time over half term in Morocco not just catching the waves but taking part in yoga sessions, music nights and sandboarding – broadening their horizons by immersing themselves in a different culture and building lasting memories.

Our pupils also continue to make a positive impact to the wellbeing of others through community volunteering – which not only enriches the lives of others but nurtures a sense of responsibility and empathy. It is really inspiring to see the variety of activities which our pupils are involved in and the care and compassion they show. Thank you to all who give up their time to serve others.

As well as new beginnings in Spring, Easter for many our pupils marks the start of important exams and we will be working hard alongside our pupils this term to build wellbeing into their study routines. We will be encouraging a balanced approach to their study and revision, highlighting the need for adequate breaks and good sleep, and reminding them that taking care of their wellbeing is an integral to performing at their best. The school is here to provide support, academically and pastorally, and creating that supportive environment which promotes a positive approach to exams. By fostering a culture of wellbeing, we will help students navigate this often challenging period with resilience and a sense of balance.

Finally, many of you will have noticed the preparation of the ground on the side of the school as you head towards the chapel. This is our dedicated grounds and gardens team preparing the site for a burst of wildflowers later in the year. The beauty of our school site significantly contributes to the overall wellbeing of everyone in our community and we appreciate the sense of care and thought which this team brings to our school site.

I wish you and your family a happy weekend.

School Colours

You may have heard your child talking about school colours. I wanted to share with you what these are and how and when they will be awarded.

Colours are awarded for representing co-curricular areas of school life, recognising loyalty and dedication together with a major commitment and contribution to a co-curricular area. They are a permanent recognition of an outstanding achievement.

Colours are split into three age groups: Junior Colours; Middle Colours; and Sixth Form Colours. The next page explains this in more detail. It can also be viewed here > School-Colours-Criteria-for-Awards.pdf \(truroschoo.com\). Towards the end of this academic year, you will receive further communication through your child of how and when these will be presented. Junior Colours will be awarded to 2nd Year pupils, Middle Colours will be awarded to 5th Year Pupils and Sixth Form Colours will be awarded to Upper Sixth Students.

Kind regards, Mrs Zoe Jobling
Deputy Head (Co-Curriculum & Partnerships)

Lent Service of Reflection

The school community gathered in the chapel this week to observe the occasion of Lent.

During the six weeks of Lent, Rev Helen addressed the importance of looking ahead and reflecting on what we should release or relinquish as we enter this season. Rev Helen highlighted the presence of 40 'holding crosses' positioned in different areas of the school, encouraging individuals to take these crosses and contemplate what they wish to hold onto as they journey towards Easter.

The chapel service concluded with a spirited rendition of 'My Lighthouse.'

3rd Years Inspired by Art

The Truro School Art Collection, currently on display at the Royal Cornwall Museum in Truro, has served as a stimulus for the creative writing component that concludes our 3rd Year's work on Ekphrasis.

Pupils were tasked with demonstrating their understanding of poetic language, forms, and meanings through their own writing. The teaching staff were impressed with how 3rd Year pupils engaged with the collection and discussed five abstract works by renowned artists. Pupils gathered words, images, and ideas to craft their own poems centred around the theme of 'Magic'.

Preparing the Legions

In a galaxy far, far away, the WAA wargaming group have been working on the armies that will conquer and save the galaxy. Painting the legion forces is a great mindful activity for some of our WAA Wargames attendees, and the scale of the task should not be underestimated.

These afternoon sessions, hosted by Dr Spring, offer a delightful blend of escapism, tactics, teamwork, and fun. If anyone is interested in Wargaming and has not chosen it as a WAA activity, they are warmly invited to join the club on Wednesdays and Fridays after school.

Surf's Up in Morocco

A group of our avid surfers had a wonderful half term getaway in Morocco last week, basking in the winter sun that provided ideal surfing conditions.

In addition to catching waves, the pupils had ample opportunities to explore the charming local town of Taghazout, collecting souvenirs and admiring the local sights. They took part in yoga classes, tried their hand at sandboarding on the dunes, and ventured to Paradise Valley for an unforgettable excursion.

Immersing themselves in the local culture, they enjoyed evening activities such as a lively Berber music night. View more > <https://www.truroschoo.com/latest-news/surfs-up-in-morocco/>

4M Charity Week

This term, Dulcie L has been busy volunteering at the Cornish charity, Hidden Help, their work supports the most vulnerable people in our county. With the help of the form group and some delicious home baking, Dulcie put on a cake sale and raised £70 for the Charity. Dulcie also produced an informative and emotional film about the Charity's work supporting people in Cornwall and the ongoing need for donations to enable the good work to continue.

Please watch the film using the link below. Well done to Dulcie and 4M for a super effort. <https://www.truroschoo.com/latest-news/4m-charity-week/>

Giving Back on a WAA

Our Wednesday community volunteering activity is highly sought after by students from 4th Year to Sixth Form as it offers excellent opportunities for pupils to enhance their skills and acquire practical work experience.

We spoke with seven girls participating in the volunteer program at Oxfam in Truro City Centre, where Deputy Manager Caroline explained the shop's need for 20 volunteers per shift to ensure smooth operations. Caroline commended the student volunteers for their hard work and positive attitude, noting their increasing confidence as they engage with customers and learn new skills. Sports Round Up

What a great start to this half term for our sporting pupils. Our U13 cricketers played some wonderful games to be crowned champions in the Cornwall Indoor Cricket County Finals.

What a fantastic match played by our U13 football team today, in the semi-finals of the ISFA match against Eaton House. The team showed great sportsmanship throughout and ended 8-2 to progress to the final.

Our U12 netballers have also had a super week coming 2nd in their county tournament narrowly missing out on the win.

Our swimmers have been busy outside of school taking part in the recent swimming county championships. There were lots of medal positions between the ten Truro School competitors.

Congratulations to our U14 hockey players, who represented the Cornwall team over half term. Eight Truro School girls represented the county in the game and were a credit to the school. We look forward to sharing more sporting achievements throughout the term.

23 FEBRUARY: TRURO SCHOOL NEWS AND UPDATES

Many of you will remember Max Levene, our inspirational former pupil and 2023 speech day speaker. He suffered a spinal injury playing rugby and has used a wheelchair since the accident.

Max has created a moving film of him visiting the site of his accident. At the end, Truro School is thanked for their ongoing support > <https://www.youtube.com/watch?si=ChrPI0a3jXJ5TFrJ&v=YzuQDsmjoOg&feature=youtu.be>

This year, he will climb Kilimanjaro and fundraise for two incredible charities, the Inspire Foundation and the Injured Players Foundation. If you would like to support Max in his fundraising, please visit this link below >
